LAGONDA NOTES.

Your correspondent attended the Mismi conference Sabbath-school convention of the U. B. church, held at Mismisburg, Oct. 7 and prepare themselves for usefulness in the var-8. The attendance and interest was better than at any previous session. The ritizans of Miamisburg entertained us royally. Numerous questions were discussed relative to the Sabbath-school work by such able workers as Dr. Berger, Prof. Landis, and Rev. G. M. Matthews, of Dayton; Rev. S. W. McCorkle, of Greenville; Rev. W. K. Albright, and many others, with a large number of lay delegates, many of whom took part. Prof. Landis gave several normal lessons, and Dr. Berger conducted a model Sabbath-school class, with the lesson for next Sabbath, all being very interesting and instructive. The secretary had a report from 54 schools, showing an enrollment of 6,237, average attendance 4,031, scholars received into the church, during the year, 200. The largest school is the First U. B., of Dayton, with 653 scholars enrolled.

Thursday evening here was rather a small affair, owing to the cold weather, it being entirely too cold for an open air meeting. R. S. Thompson was on hand and made a very good speech, considering the small audience and disagreeable surroundings. He arraigned both political parties and made it clear to himself, at least, that everybody should vote prohibition next Tuesday.

Mr. Larrough, father of W. V. Larrough, moved here this week from Cable, Champaign county, occupying rooms above Reed & Gordon's store.

Inter-State Convention of Coal Dealers at Dayton.

Retail coal dealers of Ohio and Indiana met in convention at Dayton Thursday. J H. Ulrick, C. C. Taylor, Wm. Pimlott and H. H. Cory were in attendance from this city. S. J. Patterson was elected president, after trying to decline and to procure the election of C. C. Taylor, of Springfield.

A motion was then made to give each state represented three vice presidents.

The names of J. W. Moore, of Richmond C. C. Taylor, of Springfield; G. R. Boot, of Indianapolis; W. D. Brooks, of Columbus; E. M. Baker, of Michigan, and C. G. Vernon, of Indiana, were presented. The rules were uspended and the gentlemen named were elected by accismmation.

The election of treasurer being in order H. L. Chapman, of Springfield, was chosen by acclamation.

The following gentlemen were elected members of the executive committee: Mr. Moore, of Delaware; J. A. Murphy, of Dayton; A. B. Meyers, of Indianapolis; W. A. Rhodes, of Indianapolis; G. H. Eggmire, of Richmond, Ind.; John Brashears, of Cincin-

A constitution and set of by-laws were adopted.

Camp Meeting-Friday's Proceedings.

The morning opened chilly and toggy, but did not dampen the arder of those encamped on the fair ground. Many had arived the day before, which materially inreased the size of the congregations. The meetings have increased in interest from the beginning, and the prospects are for a still greater increase in interest. Quite a number are expected to reach the grounds today. To- streets of the city. lay is the preparation for the Sabbath by all the Adventists on the ground.

All Seventh Day Adventists, realizing th mportance of properly keeping the Lord's holy day, make Friday a preparatory day, by doing all their baking, cleaning up, and everything that can possibly be attended to. Then when the Sabbath comes they can spend it in spiritual exercises and studying God's word, tree from all unnecessary cares. They do not believe that the Sabbath should be spent in visiting and feasting, as is done by the majority of the people. Another meeting of the conference wa seld at 9 o'clock. One subject that was quite utly discussed was the matter of the educaion of the young people. As a people the Adventists believe in educating their children | nedy! and youth, and have established two colleges and one academy, and many other schools in various parts of the country. A resolution was presented recommending that the youth in the church go to the college located in Battle Creek, and ious departments of the cause. Another resolution that brought out a very interesting or the support of God's cause in the earth. They do not believe in having oyster suppers, grab bags, and festivals to support God's work, but have adopted the Bible system of tithing, or paying a tenth of their income to support their laborers. After the been discussed by several, it was unanimously costs. C. L. Sudoth, for stealing a fur cap woted to set spart a tenth of their income to and pair of gloves from T. M. Gugenheim, the Lord's cause. After the delegates had voted on the matter, the large congregation was invited to vote on the matter. When rying a slungshot. put to the vote, the entire congregation, with scarcely a dissenting voice, voted to sustain the cause by their tithes.

by the delegates that Onio accept the charge Though the morning was unpleasant the day came off warm, clear and beautiful, and all greatly enjoyed the change.
It is hoped that the remainder of the meeting will be interesting and profitable Hobbies.

Next Tuesday evening at the Grand. The following is from the Cincinnati Enquirer: PROPLE'S - "HOBBIES "

Nat Goodwin made "Hobbies" famous, composed the piece, or whatever the reader has a mind to call it, and was wonderfully by Mr. Edward Seabrooke. The house was crowded, and the audience one that accorded Mr. Seabrooke all the credit he deserved. To say that his acting was not satisfactory would be unjust. Mr. Seabroke is a versatile young comedian, with abilities adapted to making a success in just such a part as "Whiffles." When he first appeared the auditor almost thought he was looking at Goodwin, so great was the resemblance. Throughout the play Mr. Seabrooke was intensely funny, and never appeared to overdo. He gave imita-tions of Smart Robson, Frank Mayo, John T. Raymond, Irving and M. B. Curtis They were loudly applauded. "Hobbies" is too well known to describe at this time. It is an well known to describe at this time. It is an absurdity brimful of laughable situations and good singing. Next in importance on the bill is Miss Bertha Fiebach, who sustains the role of "Minnie Clover." Miss Fiebach for two or three seasons past has been a leading favorite of the German Theater company in this city. This is her first season in English. She is a bright young soubrette, quite good-looking, and withal of very pleasing apprarance. She handles the language well, just the slightest German accent being noticeable in her speech. She sings well, and, above all, has a fascinating style that is her own. Unlike so many soubrettes of the day, she does not appear to attempt to imitate other actresses. The performance was enlivened throughout by good sieging, and may be set down in general as a fine success. Miss Fox brought down the house as the "Fairy," and Mr. Clarke's "Major Bang" was excellent. The farce "To Oblige Beuson" precedes "Hob-bles." It is well given by the company. Mr.

Owen Ferres was particularly clever as
